Dogs Die in hot cars

Never leave a dog unattended in a vehicle, even on a mildly warm day.

Dogs can die when left unattended in a vehicle, even when it is in the shade, a window is open and there is water available.

The British weather can switch very suddenly so even on cloudy days leaving a dog in a car or other vehicle can prove fatal.

Every year the Kennel Club hears reports of dogs being cooked alive after being left in vehicles in hot weather, a situation which can so easily be avoided.

For those travelling with their dogs during the summer months, the Kennel Club has Advice on their website.

Never

1, Leave a dog unattended in a vehicle, even with the window open and water available. Take them out and leave them in a secure, cool place with access to shade and water or take them with you, there are plenty of places that are part of the Kennel Club's Be Dog Friendly campaign and will allow dogs in, every Parish in the area is extremely Dog Friendly but check the local restrictions before taking them on to a beach.

2, Let your dog take part in unnecessary exertion in hot weather, or stand in exposed sunlight for extended lengths of time.

3. Pass by a dog if you see one suffering in a car or other vehicle. Whether it be in a supermarket car park or at a show, make sure you let someone in authority know and if in doubt call the police on emergency number 999.

What to do if your dog overheats:

1. Contact the vet immediately.
2. Move the dog out of the heat.
3. Offer the dog cool, rather than cold, water for small drinks if the dog is still conscious.
4. If possible, fan the dog with cool air.
5. Wrap in cool, damp towels or spray with cool, not cold, water. Pay particular attention to the head.
6. Cool the dog's tongue by dabbing with a cold, damp cloth. www.thekennelclub.org.uk

Please be careful in the Countryside

Due to our continued good weather, (apart from the odd thunderstorm) the Countryside is very dry, and the risk of fire increases every day.

Top Tips on preventing fires in the Countryside and on the Moor

Never throw down cigarette ends either out of the car window or when walking across the moor.

Don't leave bottles or glass lying around, Sunlight shining through glass can start a fire, take them home or put them in a waste or recycle bin. Don't light a fire or a BBQ.

How can you help if you spot a fire?

Early reporting of a fire is essential and anyone seeing a fire should ring 999 to notify the fire service.

Walkers can be useful when carrying a mobile phone by informing the fire service of accurate information on the location of a fire with a map reference or bearing, which can save precious time.

Make sure you leave the area quickly if the fire is nearby, fires are unpredictable and can spread quickly, don't go putting yourselves in any danger.

People traveling by car can also keep watch and report smoke or fires in a similar way.

Our Countryside is very fragile valuable resource and can be damaged easily, wildlife many of which are having young at this time of year can be put in great danger.

Please be careful when you are out and about in this wonderful place.
